Le Due Tenute winery was founded by two young entrepreneurs with a deep passion for the products of their land, Etna.

Owners of two lands in the Biancavilla area, south of Etna, these young visionaries decided to carry on the tradition passed down from their fathers, enhancing their grapes to produce red, white, and rosé wines.

The name "Cantonè" highlights their strong connection to the land, as "cantonè" is a local dialect term from the southern slopes of the volcano, referring to the boundaries of a vineyard.
